

Keith Lewis - BIO

While in high school, Keith worked at his father's trucking company, driving a tractor-trailer and learning the transportation business.

After high school, Keith continued working for his father while going to college and completing his degree in Criminal Justice.

After Keith's father sold his company, Keith worked for three large global logistics companies. Keith's last position was as a General Manager, running a JIT automotive operation in Graz Austria.

In 2000, Keith left the logistics industry to pursue a career in law enforcement where he worked as a Task Force Agent for the Georgia Bureau of Investigation's Major Theft Unit, assisting them in undercover and sting operations.

Now, Keith is the VP of Operations for CargoNet. Keith is responsible for managing CargoNet's operational efforts which include the supervision of the CargoNet operations staff, investigative support, and system training for its members.
