Jennifer Fragale is a Senior Account Executive in Avalon's Northeast Regional Office, where she works closely with clients and industry partners throughout the logistics community. Avalon Risk Management is a surety partner and premier insurance provider serving the logistics industry. With more than ten years of commercial insurance experience, Jennifer is dedicated to supporting this specialized industry through thoughtful guidance, responsive service, and a relationship-driven approach.

Jennifer helps logistics professionals navigate the complex bond and commercial insurance solutions that support their businesses, including Surety Bonds, Cargo Insurance, Errors & Omissions Insurance, Legal Liability, and Business Insurance coverages. Her experience is grounded in a deep understanding of the unique risks, regulatory demands, and operational challenges facing customs brokers, freight forwarders, and other transportation and logistics providers.

Jennifer is a licensed insurance broker and holds the Certified Insurance Counselor (CIC) designation. She is currently working toward her Certified Risk Manager (CRM) designation and is actively involved in several trade associations. Her continued participation in industry events and professional organizations reflects her commitment to building meaningful relationships and contributing to the conversations that move the logistics industry forward.
